

WELCOME TO THE CANONS' GAIT.

The Canons' Gait sits proudly at the regal end of the Royal Mile known as the Canongait. King David I of Scotland founded a monastery at Holyrood in 1128 and the road followed by the Canons as they moved between the monastery and the walls of Edinburgh further up the hill became the Canons' Way or Canons' Gait.

For many centuries the area known as Canongate remained a separate burgh, outside Edinburgh's city walls. This made it a much more spacious and desirable place to live for the great and the good of the city, though at times it could also make it a dangerous place to live. The area was sacked repeatedly, most comprehensively by Richard II in 1380.

The building housing the pub is located on the site of Plainstones Close, so called because it was paved like Canongate itself. In the 1500s Mary Queen of Scots' French tailor Jaques de Soulis lived here.

Today The Canons' Gait serves good food all day, with a selection of draught beers, traditional Scottish real ales, bottled craft beers and a large range of gins, bourbons, rums and of course whiskies. Our downstairs function room 'Halfway Down' is available to hire for those private occasions and is used extensively through the Edinburgh Fringe Festival as a venue for PBH Free Fringe.

Sir Walter Scott writing in 1827 stated; "Sic itur ad Astra" - This is the path to heaven.
We can't quite provide heaven, but we'll try as dam near earthly possible.

MALT WHISKY

When it comes to picking a malt whisky there is a lot to choose from.

There are five whisky regions in Scotland - Campbeltown, Highlands & Islands, Islay, Lowland and Speyside. Each offers a different and distinctive personality. Ask your server for assistance or try one of our flights and find your favourite.

SPEYSIDE

The most densely populated whisky region in the world, famous for fertile glens and, of course, the River Spey. Home to about 60 distilleries despite the small physical size of the region, it's the most important region for whisky production by sheer volume. Speyside whiskies are known for being frugal with peat and full of fruit. Apple, pear, honey, vanilla and spice all have a part in expressions from this region, which are commonly matured in Sherry casks. With so many distilleries in Speyside, there's a lot of variation in the flavours of the whiskies. There's no real distinctive Speyside character, though most of the whiskies produced there are fairly sweet. If you're looking for a more sherried, heavier taste, you can look for a Glenfiddich 15 year or Macallan 12 year, or for a more floral taste, you can look for a Longmorn or even a Glen Moray.

LOWLAND

Soft and smooth malts are characteristic of this region, offering a gentle, elegant palate reminiscent of grass, honeysuckle, cream, ginger, toffee, toast and cinnamon. The whiskies are often lighter in character and perfect for pre-dinner drinks. The region of Scotland closest to England, whiskies from the Lowlands are light, dry and fruity. Most Lowland distilleries were traditionally triple distilled, but with only one, Auchentoshan still utilising this practice, the typical Lowland characteristic flavour profile is due to the large copper stills used, the long fermentation time and because most are unpeated.

HIGHLANDS

This region, which also takes in the islands, has a huge diversity of flavours and characters. The largest geographical whisky-producing region of Scotland, if not one with the most distilleries; only about 30-ish in total. From lighter whiskies all the way through salty coastal malts, the Highlands offers a whisky for all palates. The western Highland distilleries have a fair amount of peaty taste to them, and tend to be sweet and dry, while the North Highland whiskies tend to be light, spicy and dry. The rest of the whiskies in the Highlands are generally fruity, but not quite to the same degree as the Speysides. They still have a dry finish. Some famous ones include Oban, Glenmorangie, Dalmore and Royal Lochnagar.

CAMPBELTOWN

Campbeltown whiskies are varied and full of flavour. Hints of salt, smoke, fruit, vanilla and toffee mingle in whiskies of robust and rich character. Once home to 30 distilleries, the mighty have fallen far indeed. Now home to only three operational distilleries, Campbeltown is lonely these days. The whiskies produced here, Springbank, Glen Scotia and Kilkerran, are very similar to Islay malts and have a peaty, briny character.

ISLAY

Islay is a magical island where the majority of its population are involved in whisky production. Famous for fiery, heavily peated whiskies. Some of the most distinctive tastes in Scottish whisky come from this region, which is rich in peat bogs and sea spray. Despite its small size, it has some of the most famous distilleries in Scotland- a fame brought about by the (non-too-coincidental) peaty character of most of its whiskies. The Islay whiskies are not for everyone. Various described as "medicinal", "cough syrup", "barbecue", "chao-da", these drams are something of an acquired taste. The more famous, representative brands are Ardbeg, Laphroaig and Lagavulin.
